

ABSTRACT

In an optical fiber communication system, the input power to an all-optical nonlinear device in an optical 5 regenerator is monitored and adjusted such that the regenerator operates at an optimized operation point.